

I would very much like to thank the crews working to clean up Salt Lake's streets after the Wasatch Front windstorm. Not just the City's crews, but all the crews that have been working tirelessly to clean up one gigantic mess. Salt Lake's street crews have been working just about around the clock with the crews putting in 10 hours days working six- to seven-day for the past weeks. Thanks, guys and gals of Salt Lake's Streets Division. You are the face of our city and you make us proud.
